De Gaulle Branded ... Anti-U.S. Ingrate

Editor, Pittsburgh Press:

I would like to comment on the June 13 letter by Michael Borbulich of Portage under the title "De Gaulle Cartoons Considered Unfunny."

I personally consider De Gaulle one of the greatest ing grates in the world. After our country saved his neck during the war (and have no doubt the Germans could have leveled France if it wasn't for the Germans could have levieled France if it wasn't forthis country) and after our Government poured billions in aid into France, dear old De Gaulle turns his back on the hand that fed him and saved his ungrateful neck.

Mr. Borbulich is under the impression that our State Department, the CIA and the Pentagon don't know where they are going or what they wish to accomplish.

Our country is trying to preserve freedom in the world against the cancerous growth of communism, but we aren't receiving any help from the
